The English Strikers.

Bu Telegraph to The Times. BEBLIN, March 17.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] The report is widely current this evening that Bismarck has tendered his resignation to the Emperor.

London, March 17.—A Berlin dispatch to the Daily News, timed midnight, says that all telegrams are rigorously inspected by the authorities and stopped if they go beyond announcing rumors. The immediate and estensible cause of the resignation of Bismarck is divergence of opinion between the Chanceller and Emperor concerning factory inspectors. It is reported the Emperor has refused to accept Count Herbert Bismarck's resignation. Gen. von Caprivi is mentioned as the successor of the Chancellor.

The Times' Berlin correspondent says:
"Something must have occurred in connection with the labor conference to cause Prince Bismarck's unexpected action."

The Sandard's Berlin correspondent says: "The German officials decline to forward my message."

The Great Strike Spreading Through out England.

London, March 17.—(By Cable and Associated Press.) Twenty thousand Tyne Side engineers have joined the strike. Several mills in Lancashire have been com-pelled to stop work on account of scarcity of coal arising from the strike. Others are running on short time.

Tep thousand miners in North Wales have joined the strike. Most of the miners who struck in Nottingham have resumed work, the masters hav-ing conceded an advance of 5 per cent. in ing conceded an advance of o per consumages.

A conference of coal-mine owners of Lancashire, Staffordshire, Derbyshire, Leicestershire and North Wales, held today to consider the situation arising from the strike, refused to grant the demand for an advance in wages. A committee was appointed to meet a committee of the men on Thursday and endeavor to secure joint action looking to the arrangement of a method for the reg-miners in Brunswick is ended. Employers are conceding a small advance. They, however, dismissed the ringleaders.

Livelipoot, March 17.—The striking dockmen engaged in a riotous demonstration today. Thirty thousand marched through the streets, and the route of the procession was the scene of constant disorder. The magistrates have invoked the aid of the military.

A TORTURED TRAMP. Lynchers String Him Up to Extor

a Confession.

KANSAS CITY, March 17.—[By the Associated Press.] Information is received from Greenwood, Mo., that a tramp was captured in the northern part of Cass county by some farmers, on suspicion of being the man who assaulted Miss Atkinson a few days ago. The farmers who caught him were bringing him to Greenwood for identification, when they were met by a party of young men, who were told what the man was wanted for. They The Berlin Authorities Suppressing at once insisted upon stringing him up to make him confess the crime, and save the trouble of taking him to the Atkinson farm. This plan was sagreed upon, and preparations were made to hang the fellow. A rope was placed around his neck, and he was told that he h d but a few moments to live, and that if he had any confession to make he had better do it at once, for that was his only chânce.

The tramp strenuously denied having done anything that merited death, and begged to be told what he was accused of. His prayers were unavailing, and he was strung up to the limb of a tree until he was aimost dead, when he was cut down.

When he was revived he was told that next time meant death, but he still persisted that the did not be was told. at once insisted upon stringing him up to

When he was revived he was told that next time meantdeath, but he still persisted that he did not know what it was they were accusing him of, and then wiser counsel prevailed and he was not subjected to further torture. He was then taken to the Atkinson farm, but the young lady failed to identify him and he was released. It is the general impression that the girl will not identify the man if he is brought before her, as she is bitterly opposed to having him hanged, although he came so near causing her death.

LATER—At midnight the rescuers have partially released the man supposed to be Ed Jones. It will take an hour or two more of hard work to get him out. He is alive but delirious.

It is reported three little newsboys were seen standing near the rear wall just before the collarse, watching the fremen. If this is true there is little hope for their lives.
One of the firemen who managed to make his escape practically unburt from the cellar says he thinks there are two or three men down there yet, completely covered by a mass of burned timbers. Several of the injured firemen who are able to talk were seen by a reporter tonight, but could add no information to what is given above. All they knew was as they were working, without even a preliminary crack, the collapse came and they were precipitated into the pit below. All but two or three of the dead and injured firemen had homes and families.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Routine Business Transacted Michael Again on the Warpath. The Board of Education met last evening at 7:30 o'clock, President A. E. Pomeroy in the chair, the full board being present. A communication was read from Sherwood & Johnson, stating that they do not care to accept the contract t build the Amelia-street schoolhouse if they have to wait until midsummer, unless the board will insure them against loss in case of a raise in the price of lumber, etc.

Mr. Whaling made a kick when it was suggested that the matter be reterred to the Building Committee. He was voted down and the matter was referred.

An invitation from the Turnverein Germania to the board and schools to attend its exercises on the 20th inst. was read and referred to the Teachers' ommittee. Contractor C. J. Kuback asked for an extension of time on buildings until the 25th of May. The matter was re-ferred to the Building Committee. The Union Construction Company filed a bid for the grading of streets in front of the High School for $450. Referred to the Building Committee. Mr. Wheling "rose to a question of

Referred to the Building Committee.

Mr. Whaling 'rose to a question of privilege,' as he said. He stated that the character of a member of the board was at stake. He then went over the charges made against him, and stated in conclusion that a certain member of the board stole from the secretary's table the communication that was signed by the teachers, and gave the paper to a reporter of the morning Times. He then asked that the offending member be forced to come to the front like a man and make morning Times. He then asked that the offending member be forced to come to the front like a man and make his name public, so that the board might punish him as he deserves. The Democratic member intimated that the offending member is atraid of him. "Gentlemen." he said, "I have never stolen anything, and I demand that the man who stole that document be ounished."

Mr. Gosper said he did not believe one of the members of the press stole the document, and that the board is not to blame. Mr. Whaling stated that he knew that one of the members did steal the locument.

On motion, the whole matter was referred to the Teachers' Committee. An invitation to attend the State and county teachers' reception at Turnverein Hall this evening was accepted.

The Finance Committee reported, and the report was adopted, the Democratic member refusing to vote.

On motion the invitation to attend the Turnverein exercises was accepted for the board and teachers.

The Committee on Building Sites and Repairs reported. The committee recommended that the bill for pumping water out of the excavation for the foundation of the High School be paid; that a well be bored at the Ela Hill school, as the supply of water from the City Water Company is not sufficient for the use of the school, not sufficient for the use of the school, and that poles for flags be put on the Tenth-street and Macy-street schools. On motion, the report of the Building Committee was adopted.

The contract between Robert Beryl and the board was approved. The contract to except the disconstruct the comment of the level high school. It is a supplement of the level high school.

the observation of the left high school. It is a supplied to the left.

Mr. Powers would not to pay contractors' bills in this until 35 days after the work is completed. The motion was put and lost, when the whole matter, after some discussion, was referred to the City Attorney.

Mr. Whaling read a lengthy resolution, lauding the teachers to the skies.

Mr. Gosper seconded the adoption of Mr. Whaling's resolution, but before the motion could be put, Mr. Cox rose and moved to adjourn.

Council to reject all contracts on the fore the motion was put, and abused the board roundly for postponing the building of the Amelia-street school

H. March offered a building site on the corner of Temple and Burch streets for $1200. Referred to the Building Committee.

The matter of putting up blackboards in the new building came up, and was discussed at some length.
On motion, the matter was referred to the Building and Supply Committee, with power to act, after which the board adjourned.

SERIOUS CHARGES AGAINST DE-TECTIVES.

Bush the Burglar Accuses Harris and Jennings of Standing In orated by His Pal Clarke—Judge | A.: Oh, it was three or four months Cheney to Investigate the Charges.

Two youthful crooks, George Bush and James Clarke, succeeded in creating a sensation in Judge Chenev's court yesterday by making startling charges concerning some well-known officers of the city. They are charges which, if true, will destroy the men charged and lay bare the details of a deliberatelyplanned system of burglary, the cool devilishness of which takes one's breath away, The young criminals were arraigned upon a charge of having burglarized the residence of Wills Paris, No. 129 Ninth street, February 28th. When Chency fixed the degree of the crime at burglary in the second degree, and asked Bush if he had any legal reason why sentence should not be passed. Some little surprise was evinced when Bush said he desired to make a sworn statement. Deputy Clerk Crane administered the oath to him. called before the bar they both waived the following remarkable examination took place, the questions being put by took place, the questions being put by Mr. Hardesty and Mr. McComas:

BUSH'S STATEMENT. By Mr. Hardesty: What is your

A.: George W. Bush.

Q.: Where do you live? A.: Los Angeles.
Q.: How long have you lived here?
A.: About four years; three or four

Q.: What has been your business or occupation since you came here?

A.: Well, stealing, as a general rule.

Q.: Now make any statement con-cerning these facts that you choose to the Court?

A.: Well, shortly after my arrival in this city I became acquainted with William Levy, a second-hand dealer in this city. He had a place on Upper Main street. And shortly afterward he made me acquainted with a detective here in town by the name of Harris — Emil Harris. And shortly after I became acquainted with one Jennings — Charlie Jennings—and probably a month or two afterward I was in Levy's place of business, and he told me that Mr. Harris was running for an office, and that ris was running for an office, and that he wanted help to get in. Well, he wanted me to go down here to a cer-tain place and get some stuff and give to them, so as they could turn it over for the reward, and get the office through this. Mr. Levy introduced me to a young man by the name of Williams. I believe. Together with him I got the stuff, and turned it over to Mr. got the stuff, and turned it over to Mr.
Levy and Jennings and Harris; and they returned it to the owner for the reward. Mr. Harris shortly afterward got the position he was looking for. A few months afterward he sent for me and told me he was placed in a position now that he could protect me. He wanted me to do work for him; that is, to steal for him; and he would take the stuff, and if he didn't want it himself why he would return it for the reward. He was principally anxious to get diamonds and good jewelry of some kind or another.
So it went along for quite a while, and finally I went to Jennings, and he took me round and showed me different places he wanted me to rob, and bring him the stuff. The principal place he went to was Dr. Owens's place on Pearl street. He was anxious to have this place shown, to have it robbad I went and told him it was Mr. Whaling's resolution, but before the motion could be put, Mr. Cox rose and moved to adjourn.

Mr. Whaling jumped to his feet and gave Mr. Cox some hard slaps. The members were determined, however, not to vote on the resolution if they could help it, but Mr. Whaling was firm, and after some further squabbling, Mr. Whaling's resolution was put, and voted down by a vote of 5 to 3.

On motion, it was decided to ask the shey would give me $3 for it, pretend it was put in pawn, and never have enough money to get it out. If it was worth $50 I would get about two—enough for my existence, and a very poor existence, at that. I have tried to make enough to leave the city; I could not do it. They have often showed me places to do up, that is to rob; took me round time and time again, on the street car, generally, to different places; and I did so. At one of the places out here we got some of the places out here we got some diamonds, large diamonds, that were worth probably seventy-five or a hundred dollars. They gave me $10 for it. That is, they made it in two payments—gave me $5, and about the time ments—gave me $5, and about the time the $5 was run through with, why, they would give me the other $5. And Jennings, he was continually having me—wanting me to do this and do that. And I would give them—I recollect a Mexican opal ring worth twenty-five or thirty dollars; he gave me $2 for it. There were several pieces of jewelry, a gold chain and watch. Mr. Harris has got a diamond set and bracelet he said was valued, I believe, at twenty or twenty-five dollars, I don't know which. He gave me $5 for it. He told me he would protect me in whatever I did.

Q: Where did you live during that Q.: Where did you live during that Well, when-the time Jennings

A.: Well, when—the time Jennings told me to come up to the office, Harris wanted to see me. I went up there, and he wanted to do something for me; told me in the mean time I should go and reside at his house. And shortly afterward he told me what he wanted. That is, before this I—previous to this I hadn't seen him for about also worths. That is, before this I—previous to this I hadn't seen him for about six mouths, and he had sent for me. Told me I could go up to his house and stay there; he would tell me shortly afterward what he wanted. I went up there. Two days afterward he took me out and showed me the places he wanted me to do up. He told me—By Mr. McComas: What do you mean by "do up?"

A.: He told me he was in a position to protect me in any way he could. He

A.: He told and the was in a position, to protect the in any way he could. He said: "Whenever there is any place where an officer will bother you," he says, "you will let me know, and I will move the officer off the beat, so as you there.

By Mr. Hardesty: What do you mean by doing up?

you; I am a crook myself; I have been in that business; if you get in jail, I will get you out." After I would rob a place, I would give them the stuff. If they had no use for it themselves, they would return it for the reward, and give me whatever they saw fit, and that would be the end of it.

By Mr. Hardesty: How long did you live in Harris's house?

A.: Oh, it was three or four months.

Q.: Did you at any time rob a hardware store?

A.: Yes, sir.
Q.: What did you get?
A.: There was $640 worth of cutlery taken out of the place. And it was given to Mr. Harris to return it for the reward. He get the reward. 10 cents on the invoice price for $640. And what money he gave me he afterward wanted. One of them told me he hadn't got the claim what he said he had got, and wanted me to return some of the money. I told him I could not do that, because I done the work and would have nothing.

and would have nothing.
Q: What kind of implements or instruments did you use, or what was procured for you, or attempted to be procured for you, if you know?

A.: Well, previous to this last burglary that was committed, Mr. Jennings came to me and told me. He says: "I think it is rather dangerous for you." Cohn's and ask if Cohn had a lantern. He came over and said Cohn said he hadn't any. He then said he would go to Fullerton's drug store and see if he could get one. He says: "Fullerton has one. I know a man there." This was in the evening about 5 o'clock. He says: "If he has not got one I will go right home." He struck out, walked right down and went home. Of course I didn't have any dark lantern. The gold settings and stuff we could not sell, he would get the tester in Cohn's and come up to our room and test it.

our room and test it. Q.: What do you mean by testing it?
A.: Finding out the carat value of it. The tester is an instrument with eight or ten prongs. Acid is used on the prongs, and the carat of the gold is assertanced by the carat. is ascertained by the acid eating the gold that has been rubbed off on the stone. We tested one article, a pin, that was valued at about twenty-five or thirty dollars, and found it to be 14 carats. He said he would take it and see what he could get on it. He tested it, and said he could get about ten dollars for it. He took it down to Cohen, and said Cohen would not give $10; he would only give $2.50 for it. He took it down and gave me $2.50.

Q.: Have you ever seen that pin

Yes, sir. What do you say? Yes, sir. Where did you see it afterward? In the police station. * Did you see any package it was the envelope it was in? A.: Yes, sir.

Q.: How was the envelope marked, if A.: I didn't notice the marking of

A.: I didn't house
the envelope.
Q.: Why didn't you leave town?
A.: Just simply for the reason I could not get money enough to leave town. They just kept me down to bedrock all the time; made it so I didn't have enough money to leave town. If I got a diamond valued at $40,000, they would not give me more

By the Court: You would not have taken such a diamond and footed it out of town with it, I suppose?

A.: Well, I could have done that;

yes, sir.
Q: Well, you have stated Mr. Jennings said he would protect you?
A: Yes, sir. On the day I got arrested he came right to the police officers and told them everything; said ne was doing that in order to work me He said he knew I was stealing all the time; but he was just waiting for me to rob some place where there would be a large reward for the stuff, and that he would arrest me for it.

Q: Who did he state that to?
A: The officer, I believe.
Q: What officer?
A: Mr. Auble and Mr. Be : The officer, I believe. : What officer? : Mr. Auble and Mr. Bowler.

Everything I have said has been inves-Q.: Is that all?
A.: Yes, sir.
The Court: Sit down.

OFFICER BOWLER'S TESTIMONY. During the foregoing startling ex amination every eye was centered on the deprayed young man who had been testifying. When he had finished, Officer M. T. Bowler testified that Detective Jennings told him that he had bought the stuff from Bush and Clarke, and knew it to be stolen, but did not know where it came from. Jennings told him that he expected to recover good cigars. He went down once or twice to San Diego, and while he did not water man's watch, stolen for eral weeks ago, through Bush, and that was his excuse for taking the stolen property. that he is the son of James Clarke Esq., of Pomona, a prominent lawyer of that city, and nephew of Joseph Clarke, foreman of the Central Pacific machine shops in Sacramento. He said he had only been stealing a short time. The night before the last burg-lary Detective Jennings, he said, met Bush and himself and they had some bush and nimself and they had some talk about getting a lantern. Jennings went across to Fullerton's drug store, under the Hoffman House on Main street, to get one, but did not find one there. He also went to L. B. Cohn's for one. Jennings took a pin to Cohn's and sold it. The witnes said he lived in Secremento twelve or different ways. in Sacramento twelve or fifteen years, is a married man and has a baby three

JUDGE CHENEY WILL INVESTIGATE. When the examination was concluded, Judge Cheney said that the revelations by the defendants are so serious that he would take time for further investigation and consider-ation; he therefore postponed the sentence until Thursday morning at 10 o'clock.

Harris and Jennings both say that the stories told by Bush and Clarke are false, and that the whole thing is a put up job.

SENSATIONAL SUIT AGAINST BREWSTER, THE HOTEL MAN.

John H. Klahn of Los Angeles Wants $50,000 for the Alienation of His Wife's Affections-The Strange Story of the Alleged Romance-Mr. Brewster Says It Is a Case of Blackmail.

A complaint was sent to San Diego from this city Saturday last, to be filed in the Superior Court of that county, which will create somewhat of a sensation there, owing to the prominence of the defendant. It is an action for $50,000 damages, brought against Horace I. Brewster of San Diego, proprietor of the Hotel Brewster of that city, by John H. Klahn, now of Los Angeles. The complaint sets forth that until January 11th, of this year, Mrs. Emma Klahn was the wife of the plaintiff. That on or about August 1, 1886, while the plaintiff was living happily with his wife in San Francisco, the defendant, wrongfully contriving and intending to injure the plaintiff, and to deprive him of the comfort, society and assistance of his wife, maliciously enticed her away from him to San Diego. and detained and harbored her there against his wishes, and that it was not known to him until November 1, 1889. That he has been damaged and suffered by this to the extent of $25,000. He further complains that until January 11, 1890, Emma Klahn was his wife, and on or about August 3, 1886, at San Diego, and on divers other days and dates, the defendant that he has been damaged by this to the extent of $25,000. He therefore prays for judgment against the defendant for $50,000. ant for $50,000.

In connection with this complaint a TIMES reporter yesterday ascertained that Mr. Klahn was granted a divorce from his wife January 11th of this part in Lord Newley by Index Wada year in Los Angeles by Judge Wade, in Department No. 3 of the Superior Court. The charge brought by him against his wife was adultery, and the co-respondent in the case was Mr. Brewster. It went by default, and the testimony adduced was considered sufficient by the Court to substantiate the charges.

Mr. Klahn's first knowledge of the faithlessness of his wife came from herself, and the story of the romance is a sufficiently strange one. In 1886 Mr. Klahn was a cigar manu-In 1889 Mr. Aladu was a cigar manu-facturer in San Francisco, happy and prosperous. At present he has suffered reverses, and is engaged in a grocery and cigar business on Pico street, in this city, his domestic happiness a wreck. In 1886 Mr. Brewster was also wreck. In 1886 Mr. Brewster was also in San-Francisco, and had not at that time made much money. He was a contractor in a small way, and an inveterate smoker, as well as a handsome man. He bought cigars at Mr. Klahn's place of business, and an acquaintance began which ripened into friendship. He was finally invited by Klahn to his home and be the a requested from the contract of the contract of Whether San Diego was suggested by Mr. Brewster or Mr. Klahn does not now appear, but it was arranged by the affectionate husband that his wife should go to San Diego for a time, and she started away well supplied with funds to render her stay a pleasant one. Mrs. Klahn is quite a good-looking woman, 30 or 35 years of age, with a trim figure, well educated and pleasant in her manners. Not very long after she her manners. Not very long after she left San Francisco Mr. Brewster decided to go to San Diego. It was the boom season there, and he soon secured contrants and began a pros ous career there which has resulted in the accumulation of wealth and promnence. Mr. Klahn remained in San Francisco and attended to business. Several times his wife returned from San Diego, and always found the San Francisco climate too much for her, stating that she felt she would die if good cigars. He went down once or twice to San Diego, and while he dis-liked the separation from his wife, con-sidered it best for her and made the

WHAT CLARKE SAYS.

James Clarke, the other defendant, was now called to the stand, and said that he is the son of James Clarke, Esq. of Pomons, a prominent lawer that he is the son of James Clarke, Esq. of Pomons, a prominent lawer that he is the son of James Clarke, the confessed that she had been faithless to her marriage years and in the mean time Mr. Klahn suffered financial reverses, and came to Los Angeles. One day his wife came to prove the standard in the mean time Mr. Klahn suffered financial reverses, and came to Los Angeles. One day his wife cam been faithless to her marriage vows.
Until that time he had been in ignorance, he claims, of anything that would even lead him to suspect that his wife was not true. The divorce suit was the result.

It then transpired, according to Mrs. It then transpired, according to Mrs. Kiahn's story, documentary and other evidence, that she had been leading a double life for nearly two years. It is alleged that while in San Francisco she passed as Mrs. Klahn; in San Diego she was known as Mrs. Brewster.

The complainants state their ability to show that for a time she lived in a residence with Mr. Brewster as his wife, and that afterward he had rooms residence with Mr. Brewster as his wife, and that afterward he had rooms near her own in an apartment-house, where she was known as Mrs. Klein, and Mr. Brewster was known as her cousin. Finally she was installed as the housekeeper of the Hotel Brewster. At last, while Mr. Brewster was in the East, a quarrel arose between the housekeeper and the manager of the hotel, and she was allowed to go instead of the manager. It is claimed that this termination of the relationship was acceptable to Mr. Brewster, and that he had been willing that such should be the outcome, a prospective matrimouial alliance being the secret motive influencing him. Shortly after this Mrs. Klahn came to Los Angeles and the dénouement followed.

It is learned that Mr. Brewster denies the allegations made in the complaint, and proposes to fight the case to the bitter end, claiming that it is only a blackmailing scheme by which it is expected to secure money from him.

"Let mental stature, not physical; the teachers' judgment, not the parents', rule you in this work," said he. "The standard for the teacher today Standing as we do so near the close of the nine-teenth century, while no human hand can reveal the future, we may still indulge the hope that those committed to our charge may be so trained and cultured as to enjoy in fullest measure the coming revelation."

He stated that the schools of the county were never in a better condicounty were never in a better condition. In 1888 but 56 pupils graduated from the pinth year; in 1889 this num-ber was increased to 132, and he pre-dicted a much larger class for 1890. He desired that the teachers should follow as closely as possible the county course of study. He announced that the State board is now at work upon a course of study for the whole State, course of study for the whole State, which uniformity of instruction he believed would be vastly beneficial.

The necessity of "commencement exercises" was emphasized as a potent influence in stimulating the students of lower grades to greater efforts.

In closing, he said: "When we contemplate the state of the way be added to the state of t California moves proudly forward to take her destined place at the head of the American States in all matters pertaining to public education."

PRESIDENT ENNIS'S ADDRESS. He was followed by Charles L. Ennis, president of the County Board of Education. Mr. Ennis spoke earnestly on the influence of the teacher upon the moral as well as intellectual growth of the child. He believed that the work in the schoolroom must sup-plement, and even counteract the home

"The growing mind," said he, "like the growing body, needs wholesome food and exercise, and its faculties, like physical powers, are strengthened by use. The mind, like the body, makes its growth principally in childhood, and like the body, it needs to be assisted and directed in its earlier efforts at activity."

He believed the greater part of the evil of the world was the result, not of defective school systems, but of detrimental home influences, and to overcome this was the gigantic task of popular-education.

He highly complimented the normal schools on the efficiency with which they trained teachers. "The time is not far distant," he continued, "when these schools must supply our State with all her teachers. As a step in that direction, I believe the examination of teachers for certificates should now be vested in the normal schools instead of in county boards of education. This plan would have the adinstead of in county boards of educa-tion. This plan would have the ad-vantage of being more uniform; be-sides, it would relieve teachers of re-peated examinations, and would dispense with the accusation now some-times heard that those who pass on teachers' qualifications are themselves incompetent to judge." STATE SUPERINTENDENT HOITT'S AD-

State Superintendent Ira G. Hoitt was then introduced and spoke briefly. The following is a resume of his ad

The following is a résumé of his address:

We come here to confer together, that we may be better prepared to train the men and wonen of the future. Teachers are expected to be something better than the ordinary run of mankind, to have a purer morality, to be exemplary before the youth of the country.

I hope you are making the best use of your public schools. I believe the boy who has gone through the grammar school and learned to love good literature is better fitted for life than the high-school graduate who does not have it. Next to the mother—and I do not accept the minister of the gospel—the teacher occupies the highest place in our national greatness.

As I visit the schools of this county I am compelled to say that your educational growth has kept pace with all your other wonderful advancements.

As we go forth from here let us instill into our pupils the necessity of using their talents, be they one or ten, for the uplifting of struggling humanity.

By such light and guidance you may avoid pitfalls, bad ways, ne-thoroughfares and reach your goal by the shortest route. Some books may be compared to sign boards pointing the way, others to electric lights illuminating the whole road to the knowledge for which we search.

No book can obviate the necessity of traveling the road of knowledge in person.

Thus, if a book be on the management of the horse, we may by study of it avoid error and learn quickly the management of this useful animal. But after such study, mounted for the first time upon the bronco, the book scholar is little more at home than one who had never seen a book on the management of a horse without a book, but one cannot learn the management of a horse without the horse.

* THE POLITICAL FIELD.

Looking forward to the next Re publican State Convention, some interest is already being aroused throughout the State in the selection of the Gubernatorial and legislative tickets. Though the campaign is not yet on, it is possible that individual aspirants for office, especially for the first office in the Commonwealth, are becoming ardent in their patriotic desire to serve make no objection; and the current the State, but large bodies heat slowly, criticism that he is showing too much and the mass of the people have not yet become warmed up over State poli-

As to the Gubernatorial nomination, the field is the State, not Southern California alone, though it is unques-tionably true that the conis freely made by our cession northern compatriots that the nomination for Governor might well be tendered to the south, in view of the condition of affairs with respect to the relative Republican strength of the sections, and with respect also to other considerations, among which is the important one of the United States Senatorship, a prize which our Republican brethren about the bay are disposed to keep their hold upon; but this fact cannot be concealed from view, that the south is the scene of Republican victory. From the south came the majority that saved California to the Republican cause, and helped to place Benjamin Harrison in the Presidential office; and from the south will come the majority that is to elect the next Republican Governor, if we are to win in the contest-a result entirely within the control of the Republicans themselves.

But to win, there must be no mistake made in the selection of the man who is to make the race. In the convention that will name the Republican head of the column, all candidates will be considered, and all will stand upon an equality before the assembled delegates of the people, without refer ence to geographical section or locality When the choice is made, it will be made with the paramount aim of suc cess in full view: and that choice must therefore be made with strict regard to fitness, availability and personal popularity. No candidate, however zealous, can hope or expect to secure The Trombone says it is satisfied the nomination unless he combines in nown. He is modest as a man, his person, record and career, those essential qualifications which may warrant the hope that he will prove a his townsmen and neighbors. He is winner in the race.

The Republicans can take no chances "on this trip." The prospects of a political career. But his friends and victorious conclusion to the coming contest are not so certain that we can up the sierras, the sea and everything afford to take any needless risks in selecting our standard-bearer. The man who is to lead the Republican column must be sans peur et sans reproche, besides being a "jim dandy" as a runner—to drop suddenly off into the classics.

Candidates for the first place are no Sacramento, Coombs of Napa, Jordan of Alameds-all known aspirantswith possibly Morrow and Felton of San Francisco. The candidacy of two last-named, however, not yet distinctive or defined. en bloc, that is to say, body, boots and breeches, to the camp of his great chief. This active and agile young Gubernatorial agent, being a local statesman of vast experience, longnosed sagacity and marvelous adroitness, will of course carry things all his own way-if the Republican delegates zeal as a manipulator, and that his acrobatic efforts may have the opposite effect from the one designed, is of course entirely untounded, not to say

The old objection that organized schemes to capture Republican dele-gates, and the other objection that Republican voters are sometimes apt to assert their independence in a positive manner, are unworthy of notice, in the face of local statesmanship of the high order to which we refer. The Republican delegations of Los Angeles county, and of the other counties in the Sixth District, can hardly be so ungracious as to refuse to be transferred upon order. The exigencie of the situation are great, "and I must have them delegates!" says our brand-new boss; so we may consider that matter settled, and the entire delegations of the fourteen counties of the Sixth District will go trooping up to the State convention to make Mr. Waterman Governor for another term, thus prolonging his stay in the executive office to seven years and a half, all told, if such be the will of the convention, which we have been solemnly and repeatedly assured is the

There is another Republican, however, not unworthy of mention in connection with this great office. He is our fellow-citizen, a familiar resident of Los Angeles county, of commanding presence, genial manners and conspicuous fidelity to his friends. He has served the country as a soldier, the State of California as a representative in Congress, and the community as a private citizen and a trained business man. He is known to us all. He is a man of action and affairs. He has courage, capacity, integrity, honor and retrue as a friend, patriotic as a citizen, and is loved and respected by not ambitious for political preferment, nor has he ever sought a permanent neighbors called him once to serve them in the halls of Congress, and he did serve them with fidelity, with zeal, with industry and with eminent success. #### THE CITY FUNDS

Two other important steps in the contest for the control of the city money were taken yesterday. An an swer was filed by the defendants in Yarnell has applied for a restraining order, to prevent City Treasurer John on from turning over the city fund to the City Bank, and the Mayor sent a message to the Council on the sub

In the answer filed, the defendants show the unreasonable and illegal action of the Council, in re fusingto deposit the money in a bank that will pay interes therefor, on the ground of unconstitutionality, while the money is at present in banks which are using it for their own private gain and profit, free of all interest. A conspiracy is charged be-tween the plaintiff and other sureties on the Treasurer's bond, and certain officers and stockholders of the banks which now hold the public money, for the purpose of preventing the deposit oney with the City Bank.

The Mayor, in his message, exposes the barefaced character of the conspiracy-for such it undoubtedly is-in a plain, straightforward and vigorou manner which cannot fail to carry conviction with it, and must be unpleasant reading for those who are engaged in the plot. While the City Council, on the one hand, has approved the bond cil from taking effect, and the Council safe for the City Treasurer, thus clearly showing the motives which influence them.

This persistent fight against a plain, constitutional provision of the charter has been carried on long enough. The consumers if competition is encouractive and industrious personal agent, of the city shall not longer be trifled who appears to have been built choke with.

An Agreement Reached on the Sugar Tariff.

Republicans Favor a Reduction Duties and No Bounty.

The House Committee Still Tinkering Windom's Silver Bill.

President Adams of the Union Pacific Registers a Vigorous Kick Against the Frye Funding Bill, Etc.

By Telegraph to The Times.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—[By the Associated Press.] The Republican members of the Ways and Means Committee have finally reached an agreement upon the sugar schedule. They agreed to make raw sugar from 10°, Dutch standard, down dutiable at 35 per cent. ad valorem and refined sugar above 16°, Dutch standard, dutlable at 60 per cent. ad valorem. This is equivaand will reduce the revenue from twenty-five to twenty-eight millions of dollars. There is no provision made for the payment of any bounty whatever. The cut in the sugar duty which will thus be made is more than two and a half times that proposed by the Mills bill, and the duty will be collected on the value and not upon the pound as heretofore. The duty given to refined is only 5 per cent. more than that given te raw sugar. As 16 or below will admit two grades of merchantable sugar fit for domestic uses, it is hoped and believed that this will take away from refiners the power to raise prices of sugar to the consumer at will. Republicans regard this heavy reduction on sugar duties as a most generous concession to the western sentiment. The rate fixed is lower than the rate fixed by the Senate Tariff Bill, and is, moreover, free from the objection raised against the Senate bill, viz., the bounty clause. The Senate bill made a reduction of 50 per cent. and gave a bounty of one cent a pound. The action of the Republican members of the Ways and Means Committee makes a cut of more than 50 per cent. and eliminates the experiment of paying a bouls to one class of producers directly from the treasury.

THE PACIFIC RAILBOADS. President Adams Objects to the Frye Funding Bill.

WASHINGTON, March 17.-- By the Assoclated Press. | Charles Francis Adams ap peared before the House Committee on Pacific Railroads this morning and submitted printed reports of arguments previously

That bill, he said, placed the Union Pacific That bill, he said, placed the Union Pacific and Central Pacific in different relations to the Government. As a matter of principle the Union Pacific could make no objection to that course. The Central Pacific never had and never would have the local trade which the Union Pacific possessed. The question was whether the burden should be propertionate to the strength of the companies.

propertionate to the strength of the companies.

He always maintained in dealing with the Pacific railroads that the Government, so far as its contract was concerned, had divested itself of its sovereignty and dealt with them as a banker or an individual would do. The Government was justified it asying that the Union Pacific, in view of its situation, should bear a heavier burden than the Central Pacific could bear without being crushed. He did not object to the general provisions of the Frye bill, nor insist that the Union Pacific should be placed on equal terms with the Central Pacific. Neither was he here to say that the terms imposed on the Central Pacific were too lenient. On the contrary, he was obliged to say the provisions of the bill imposed as heavy load as the Central Pacific could bear. He did not think that the Union Pacific would be willing to take the property of the Central Pacific with a heavier load than the Frye bill imposed upon it. The Frye bill was a good and fair bill in many respects, but there were a few material points in which he would like to see it modified.

He was forced to the conclusion that the burden which the Frye bill imposed upon the Union Pacific was too severe and too heavy. He did not think he would be willing to be responsible for the results in the future, it the conditions of that bill were imposed upon the company, especially at this time. It was not for the interest of the Government or the people that the Union Pacific stock should cease from being dividend paying, and become a speculative stock; should cease from being dividend paying, and become a speculative stock; should cease to the Government nor of the Union Pacific that the company should be launched on a long voyage of foyears weighted down to the water line so that those who navigated the craft should spend hif their time clinging to the rigging in order to save themselves from every wave that swept over the deck. The Frye bill loading the company down to the water line was beyond what he considered the limit of safety.

on to the safe again, as the weak point of rings, because when there is a safe in the Treasurer's vaults the money will have to be put there, and of course every subterfuge will be resorted to to brevent the Treasurer from having a suitable safe in which to keep the city moneys, affording thereby an excuse for leaving this money where it is. To say the least of it, the delays in this matter justify the actions of the Mayor in demanding a report of the committee. The Mayor nas determined that if they prevent the city from loaning its money, those instrumental in so doing shall not profit thereby in loaning the money in the mean time. The Official Canvass of the Sewer Bond Election Returns-Another Vote by the Mayor-A Number of Ordinances Adopted - Summerland's St. Patrick's Day Res-

The City Council met vesterday morning with President Frankenfield Councilmen Bonsall, Shafer, Brown, Hamilton, Van Dusen, Mc-Lain, Summerland and Wirsching

Mayor Hazard returned without his approval the ordinance requiring monthly estimates of expenditures by city officers, with the following reasons for the veto:

The objection I have to this ordinance is that it authorizes officers, commissions or committees of the city to incur indebtedness without an ordinance; in other words, it attempts to legalize expenditures without the sanction of the Mayor, which is prohibited under our present charter. I particularly object to the same for the reason that to refuse to approve these expenditures after they are made is often productive of great hardship to those to whom the money is due, either for labor or material, when they are in no wise responsible for a failure to observe the law in that regard, which requires the assent of the Mayor to authorize the expenditure, and as a matter of justice to them, it is right that the question of the payment of indebtedness. a matter of justice to them, as the question of the payment of indebtedness should be determined before the authority to incur the same is given; otherwise, the Mayor will have no supervision over the expenditures of the city. As an ordinance than iting the expenditures to be made by any officer, commission or committee, it is a good one, but that portion which authorizes an expenditure without the assent of the Mayor should be stricken out.

The vote by which the ordinance passed was reconsidered, and it was eferred back to the conference com-

Afternoon Session.

The Council met promptly at 1 o'clock, with President Frankenfield in the chair, when the report of the Board of Public Works, as heretofore with light was adopted.

Board of Public Works, as heretofore published, was adopted.
An ordinance, providing for the grading of Boyle avenue was read and referred back to the Board of Public Works for correction.
The report of the Zanja Committee was read and adopted, after which the Finance Committee's report was taken up and adopted, with the exception of the recommendation that the Treasurer and Auditor be allowed deputies at $83.33, per month, which was lost, Councilmen Shafer and Bonsall voting against it.

A number of contracts for furnish-ing supplies, etc., were read, and, the bonds being in regular form, they were approved.

As usual, this was done Sunday morning, which, of course, gave the alarm to any one in the room. Mr. Heintz says that as he came upstairs he heard a couple of men hurtying down the opposite stair, way, but thought nothing of it until he arrived at his office, when he was somewhat astonished to find the desks all open, and the books, papers and documents strewn upon the floor promiscuously, but thought it possible that some one connected with the office might have been in a hurry looking for some papers, until Monday morning, when it was found that the lock to the composing-room door had been broken and the room entered. Nothing was taken, and the only motive Mr. Heintz says that could have induced the entering was that certain parties wanted to get possession of the books of the office for selfish and personal reasons.

The "Portrait" Fake. "An Agent" writes to THE TIMES, calling attention to the practice of certain firms, sending out agents and giving portraits as premiums to purchasers of their wares, and says: "The agents inform the people that, if they agents inform the people that, if they will pay for so much of this, they will get a large portrait free. Many persons give their order blindly, and, after paying for a lot of their trashy stuff, the agent comes with a poor daub, so the people have to take it, and then, when an agent comes along, who is doing a legitimate business, and treating his customer's fairly and honestly he is looked upon as a thief and liar, the same as those fellows."

NOTE AND COMMENT.

THE signs are favorable for an early entrance of the Spence road. WORK on the extension of the Cross road from Colorado street to its depot grounds, near Fair Oaks avenue, will e commenced this morning. THE trustees of the Presbyterian Church are to be congratulated on a subscription of $4000 to apply on the church debt.

MAJ. W. H. TOLER and John Burns of Los Angeles were among the visitors vesterday. They express themselves as more than ever pleased with Pasa-dena, and predict a boom in the near future of a more substantial sort than has yet been seen.

TRAVELERS on the county road between Los Angeles and Pasadena com plain that Ralph Rogers is again playing havoc with that thoroughfare, making it dangerous and almost impassable. Has Mr. Rogers a lien on the Board of Supervisors?

THE Lake Vineyard Land and Water Company will hereafter furnish water to the buildings on the postoffice block by the measured cubic foot. The sys tem of water meters will soon be in general use, as it is proving more satis-factory to both the consumer and the company.

A SOCIAL EVENT.

The Misses Campbell Give a Co-tillon at the Raymond.

A pretty ribbon cotillon was given in the Raymond music hall last night by the Misses Campbell.

The favors, 10 in number, were exquisitely painted by Mrs. Farr. Promnence was given to orange and blackthe colors of Princeton—as a compliment to the leader, Judge Van Doren, a graduate of that institution.

a graduate of that institution.

A novel feature of the affair was the manner in which it was opened. The Misses Campbell fastened a package of favors on the dress and coats of each of the participants, and then as the music started up they went down the line with large Indian baskets and gave to each gentleman a bunch of violets with a lady's name attached, which indicated his first partner, and to each lady an orange and black button with an old English "C" embroidered in it, to be given to the first gentleman she danced with. It was a striking and pretty way of opening the ball.

It is gratifying to be able to find some of the works of our local artists placed on exhibition at our art stores. At Sanborn & Vail's is displayed a pretty list of still life from the easel of Miss Edna Gamble. Upon a table coloring of which is very fine, and beside it, in a half-folded napkin, are four oranges, the coloring of which is very truthful. The vase stands out from the canvas as if it were indeed a bit of pottery that could be handled.

The news has reached Pomona that ball.

Twenty-one couples participated, and the spacious hall was lined with spectators. Of the figures the "Screen," or "Bower," and the "Hippodrome" were the most amusing. There was a very pretty tennis figure, and the figure of the Japanese fans and parasols also made a charming effect.

After supper was served there were, among others, two military figures, led by Col. Volkmar. One, the "Little Rounds," danced to Waldteutel's bewitching "Skaters" waltz, and the "Army Review" danced to the Boulages March langer March. The perfect evolutions of the latter elicited a round of applause from the spectators. The following couples were present: Miss Jeanne Campbell and Judge Van

The art classes are full to overflowing, numbering about one hundred and twenty-five pupils, drawing from the antique, under the supervision of Mr. James Kinsella, and are for men alone, women not having been recognized as yet. At the close of the school year an exhibition of the year's work is held in the classrooms.

Miniature work has become almost an obsolete art in this country, which seems a great pity, as it affords a wide scope to the artist gifted in that line for the expression of r-finement and delicacy in the treatment of a portrait.

Awards of Merit.

A beautiful gold medal was awarded yesterday amid the acclamations of his fellow-students to F. W. Allender of the Los Angeles Business College and made the greatest improvement in penmanship during the past six weeks.

O. C. Zahn and F. W. Walker also receive valuable prizes for occupying second and third place, respectively, in this interesting competition.

Monrovia Doings.

Monrovia Pilled the mastery in the gallant ships, laden with human souls, which wait for their guiding hand. Only recently the pilot's perilous life has been brought to our notice in the daily papers, by the loss of a veteran in gentinues at a rapid pace.

Eastern parties are inquiring about Monrovia with a view of starting a boot and shoe factory here. Monrovia will undoubtedly, in the near future, be a manufacturing town, as we will be located on the Los Angeles and Salt Lake Raliroad, thus giving us cheap fuel and transportation, and we possess all the other advantages.

Our little bury has been the seene of a number of festivities during the last few weeks. The Euterpe Club gare one of its most enjoyable hops a Monrovia Hall last week, and expect to give another next Friday evening. Card parties, too, are quite frequent.

Mrs. C. H. Roberts gave a select whist party to a few friends on last Thursday evening in honor of Mr. Roberts's sister, who is here on a visit.

But the event of the week was the old-folks' concerfor old-fashioned singing-school, under the able management of Prof. J. A. Foshay. It was given for the benefit of the Congregational Church, and the proceeds netted about sixty dollars.

All the prominent musical talent of Monrovia took part in the concert. The Æolian Quartette, which assisted in the concert, is a musical organization which has been in existence some six months, and is in reality a double quartette, with Miss Lottie (G. Green as a zoompanist. Prof. Foshay is president and musical director. The selections rendered by the quartette are always appreciated.

He was a Circassian, and was purchased as a slave 60 years ago by the Turkish state treasurer. After various adventures he was made agrand vizier by Abdul, but his tenure of office was brief. The Turks resented his success, and his downfall was as sudden as his rise. He was a man of commanding presence, a clever speaker, and extremely lavish in his expenditure. He talked French fluently, and was at one time a great lion in Parisian salons.
